TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Fifty-first Annual Report of the Trustees of the Peabody Institute, covering the year ending Jan. 31st., 1903, is respectfully submitted.

The reports of the Treasurer, the various sub-committees of the Lyceum and Library Committee and of the Librarians of the two libraries give in detail the operations of the institute for the past year, and leave little to be said by the Trustees, except to call attention to the salient points of these reports.

It will be seen by the Treasurer's report that important changes have taken place in the investments of our funds; the Finance Committee deemed it good policy to sell our entire holdings of City of Chicago Bonds, aggregating $50,000, as it could be done at a good profit, together with some $5,000 of other short time bonds nearing maturity. One note of the Town of Peabody for $10,000 has also matured and been paid. The proceeds of these transactions have been reinvested in various securities, at satisfactory rates of interest, details of which are given in the Treasurer's report.

During the summer, the Building Committee had the ceiling of the library room completely renovated, a much needed improvement and one that is appreciated.

Owing to the difficulty in procuring coal, the Sutton Library has been closed the past few weeks, but it is believed that no inconvenience has resulted, as a notice has been posted directing persons desiring to use the library to call upon the librarian of the Peabody Library, who has at once procured the desired books and brought them to the lower library for consultation.

The decreasing attendance at our course of free lectures is a matter that calls for consideration, and raises the question whether or not it would be well to reduce the number of lectures in the course as much as can be done and comply with the terms of the bequest.

The efforts of the librarian of the Peabody Library to improve the condition of the card catalog by the purchase of the cards now being printed by the Library of Congress, as mentioned in his report, is heartily commended, as anything which improves the cataloging of our library serves to render its contents more accessible to borrowers.

The Peabody Historical Society in November last placed in the custody of the Trustees a small fire-proof safe, inscribed "To be opened on or after 16 June, 2002, by the Citizens of Peabody." It contains many photographs of scenes about town, with views of public and other buildings as they are today, together with papers written by pastors of the various churches and other citizens, newspapers and articles in common use today, the whole forming a picture of life in town at the present time which should prove interesting and instructive to our descendants in the next century.

This safe has been placed in the fire-proof vault in the rear of the Queen's picture, where it can remain in safety until the date set for its opening.

WM. F. SAWYER, President,
For the Trustees.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

LYCEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE PEABODY INSTITUTE.

Gentlemen:—I transmit herewith the reports of the librarians and of the sub-committees of the Lyceum and Library Committee.

They present in full the work of the Institute for the year ending Jan. 31, 1903.

Respectfully submitted,

J. W. HUDSON,

Chairman Lyceum and Library Com.

PEABODY, Jan. 31, 1903.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE FOR THE YEAR ENDING JAN. 31, 1903.

The library has had a busy though uneventful year. Each day brought with it new duties and new interests. It is never dull in a library. Questions are continually arising, the consideration of which reveals glimpses of higher things and of worlds that have no boundaries.

The accessions during the year have been chosen with the same care and consideration as in the past. Amongst the notable books might be mentioned, in travel—Percy's "Asiatic Turkey", Fountain's "Great Forests of South America", Hulbert's "Historic Highways", Vols. 1-2, Pritchard's "Through the Heart of Patagonia" and Nichols' "Through Hidden Shensi"; in biography—Rose's Life of Napoleon, The Life of Lord Russell of Killowen and the life of Charles Robinson, First Governor of Kansas; in history—Boutwell's Sixty years of Public Life, John Fiske's New France and New England, Woodrow Wilson's History of the American People, Hale's Memories of a Hundred Years; in science and arts—Modern American Tanning, Lockwood's Colonial Furniture of America, Villon's Practical Treatise on the Leather Industry, Lawson's History of the America's Cup; in literature—Fiske's Essays, Historical and Literary, Woodberry's Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne, Saintsbury's History of Criticism; in fiction—Wister's, "The Virginian", Edith Wharton's, "The Valley of Decision," Smith's "Fortunes of Oliver Horn", Mason's "Four Feathers".

While the volume of fiction for the year showed no diminution, the quality on the whole was of mediocre order. In the early part of the season one or two books of literary merit were published, but their worth was marred by such unnecessary coarseness as to render them unfit for a public library. It seems to be a common error to think that a book is strong because it is daring in its tone and defiant of principles that we revere. The finest and most enduring things ever written are sweet and comforting for all times. It is no reproach to a library that its shelves are free from books that violate precepts which the world has recognized for centuries, nor should any committee falter in its duty in rejecting such, in the fear of being regarded as old fashioned or provincial.

It is not out of place to mention that death has sadly depleted the ranks of American men of letters since our meeting a year ago. No longer can we look for the humorous whimsicalities of Frank Stockton, nor shall Bret Harte again illumine the rough surroundings of the miner's camp; John Fiske, the man of mighty brain and keen insight, will write no more history, and Frank Norris cut off with the goal in sight and his task unaccomplished. There are no comparisons to be made in the work that they did, but the world recognised their worth and is poorer to-day by their death.

It will be seen by the librarian's report that there has been a slight decrease in the circulation from that of the previous year. Other libraries are having the same experience and from the reasons advanced the fact has no bearing on their efficiency or popularity. The value of a library cannot be properly gauged by the number of books given out without taking thought of the kind of books. It is the custom with some librarians to expand their circulation by inducements which seem devoid of lasting benefits. Forcing or coaxing people to read are both likely to prove objectionable.

The executive work of the library has been of the highest character. The assistants have been uniformly courteous and attentive. Prompt service is given to all, questions are readily answered and explanations and advice tendered with willingness.

The life of a modern librarian is a busy one. His work is never done. Our own efficient librarian is a conspicuous example. The profession has grown more exacting and there are few callings that require more exact knowledge, judgment and industry than that of a librarian—who is successful.

The need of a separate room for children is becoming more apparent every year. We are doing all that our limitations will allow in that line. It is hoped that in the future, when changes and alterations in the building become necessary, this matter will receive favorable consideration.

THOMAS CARROLL, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE EBEN DALE SUTTON REFERENCE LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

TO THE LYCEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE OF THE PEABODY INSTITUTE:

The report of the Eben Dale Sutton Reference Library Committee for the year ending Jan. 31, 1903, is respectfully submitted.

The committee in charge of this library for several years past have endeavored to keep the additions of new books along certain lines, and this has been particularly true during the past year; we have also co-operated more than ever before with the library downstairs, buying the more expensive reference books, which come out from time to time, for this room.

The art department is a large one and the most consulted of the books in the library. Several important works in this class have been added, notably, Frans Hals, Davies; Fra Angelico, Douglas; Turner, Armstrong; Salon of 1902.

Some of the most important additions in other classes are The Universal Encyclopædia and Atlas, Living Races of Mankind, League of the Iroquois, Diamond Mines of South Africa, Unknown Mexico, House of Caesar, Harper's Pictorial History of the War with Spain, Early Settlers of Nantucket, the latest edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

New electric lamps have been provided for the reading tables since the last report, and are a great improvement both for lighting and ornamentation.

The experiment of opening the library more evenings was tried last winter and spring up to the warm weather, but the patronage was so small that it was deemed inadvisable to continue and the library is now open two evenings a week, Wednesday and Saturday.

This being naturally a special library, it is not to be wondered at that it is little used and the figures this year show a decrease from last year, but this is caused by the library being closed since Dec. 9, 1902, owing to the scarcity of coal in the building. Up to the time of closing the consultations were more than last year for the same period.

Following are the statistics of the library, compiled by the librarian.

For the Committee by

FRED W. BUSHBY, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE LYCEUM COMMITTEE.

TO THE LYCEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

Gentlemen:—At this writing only about one half of the lectures arranged for have been delivered, these including the two which were to be illustrated.

The committee has put a good deal of thought into its choice of lectures and it is hoped that the course will prove satisfactory.

With the limited sum at its disposal it did not seem advisable to purchase the very highest price talent, not necessarily the best, although by reducing the number of lectures the work of the committee would be materially lessened. When you stop to think that the entire appropriation could be eliminated in a course occupying but a couple of evenings, it is well to consider if the best thing is not now being done in lengthening out the course and treating a greater variety of subjects.

Why is it that more people do not take advantage of the free lectures—is it that the attractions chosen are unpopular or is it that many who ought to be there have grown careless and now care for nothing but amusement?

As the committee has always been ready to receive suggestions as to the proper manner of conducting the affairs of the Lyceum, it is inclined to attribute the general poor attendance wholly to the indifference of the public. Many a lecturer will remember the Peabody Institute not as the place where he addressed a small audience but as the place where he was fortunate enough to see our beautiful miniature of Queen Victoria, and it is by offering to show this treasure that we oftentimes turn aside the question, "Where were the people?"

Following is the lecture course.

Nov. 6, Thomas McClary. Subject, "The Mission of a Mirthful Nature."

Dec. 4, P. M. Pearson. Subject, "J. Whitcomb Riley."

Dec. 18, The Lincolns. Subject, "Alaska." (Illus.)

Jan. 15, Capt. H. E. W. Campbell. Subject, "South Africa." (Illus.)

Feb. 2, Hon. G. A. Gearhart. Subject, "The Footprints of the Centuries."

Feb. 19, DeWitt Miller. Subject, "The Self-Sufficiency of the Republic."

Mar. 5, F. Schuyler Matthews. Subject, "Wild Birds and their Music."

For the Committee, by

R. B. MACKINTOSH, Chairman.

READING ROOM COMMITTEE.

TO THE LYCEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

The report of the Reading Room Committee for the year ending Jan. 31, 1903, is respectfully submitted.

The attendance has averaged about the same as previous years, and the order maintained has somewhat improved.

Ainslee's, Everybody's, Leslie's Monthly, Strand, Success and The Saturday Evening Post have been substituted for the Illustrated London News, which is taken by the Sutton Library.

WM. H. HILL, Chairman.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

TO THE LYCEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

The report of the Librarian for the year ending January 31, 1903, is respectfully submitted.

The circulation of the past year shows a decrease of 900, or $2\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. from that of the previous year, being 38,522 as against 39,417 in 1901-02. It is significant that the decrease is entirely in the class of fiction which shows a loss of 1,200, while there is a gain of 300 in the aggregate of the non-fiction classes. It is probable that the competition of the Booklovers', Tabard Inn and other circulating libraries of the same class has affected us somewhat, by reason of the desire of so many people to read immediately the latest popular novel, which demand we are unable to satisfactorily meet, our limited resources not permitting the purchase of many copies of any one work. Some libraries have recently undertaken to meet this demand for the more popular works by installing Tabard Inn book-cases, arranging for a supply of fresh books each month, with the privilege of retaining for more than one month as many copies of any specially popular work as are necessary until the call for it has been supplied. This experiment will be watched with much interest by other libraries.

During the past summer the Building Committee of the Trustees completely renovated the ceiling of the Library Room, a much needed improvement, cut down the three remaining high straight alcoves, and built two new ones of standard pattern on the east side, relieving the crowded condition of the travel and fiction sections. There is still room on the west side for two more alcoves, which will soon be needed, and this will exhaust our present floor space. The committee also doubled the capacity of our storage room in the basement, and in August, 1,000 additional volumes, consisting of old sets of periodicals and files of little used Public Documents were transferred to it. Previous consignments to this storage room, made years ago, were never arranged at all, but placed haphazard upon the shelves, rendering it difficult to locate any particular work. The months of August and September were devoted to systematically arranging the entire contents of this room, and now every volume is as easily located as are those in the Library Room.

The scheme of the Library of Congress for supplying printed catalog cards has been further perfected during the year, and all the cards for our new books are being thus obtained, at a decided saving of time and expense.

The recataloging of the Library of Congress was begun in 1898, and in order that other libraries engaged in the work of recataloging might have the benefit of the cards printed prior to last year, the Librarian of Congress has prepared a travelling catalog of these cards, numbering some 85,000, to be loaned to such libraries, that they might order cards for such books as they had. This catalog came to us on January 10 for a period of six weeks, and work is now being pushed upon it with all diligence. Already some 3,000 cards have been ordered from it, and but one-fourth of it has yet been checked over.

Our membership in the Library Art Club has been continued, and the following exhibitions have been given :

Views of the Oberammergau Passion Play,	Feb. 10-Mar. 3
Views of Siena, Italy,	April 1-21
Pictures by French artists,	May 27-June 16
Views of Russia,	July 22-Aug. 11
Yachts,	Sept. 2-22

Views of New England towns,	Sept. 30-Oct. 20
Views of Newfoundland,	Oct. 28-Nov. 17
Historic Houses,	Dec. 9-29
Views of York, England,	Jan. 20-Feb. 9, 1903.

Mr. Horace K. Turner, representing the Soule Art Co., also kindly loaned us two exhibits, the first of Italian and Spanish Architecture and the second of American Landscapes, which were much enjoyed.

It has heretofore been our policy to purchase every work bearing upon the special industries of our town, and the past year we have imported Villon's "Practical Treatise on the Leather Industry," and also bought "Modern American Tanning," as well as a complete set of Hawkins' books on steam engineering, to supplement our old set, which is becoming badly worn.

The suspension of the publication of the "Leather Manufacturer" has deprived us of one of our most used periodicals, but the loss has been made good in great measure by the "Hide and Leather," which Mr. Carroll is kindly presenting to us.

The Reading Room Committee at the beginning of the year discontinued the Illustrated London News, as the Sutton Library was also subscribing for it, and substituted Ainslee's, Everybody's Magazine, Frank Leslie's Monthly, Strand, Success, and the Saturday Evening Post, the cost of the six being the same as that of the London News. The change has proved a wise one, the six new periodicals are all much used in the Reading Room, and are bound and put into circulation as fast as the volumes are completed, making the total number of periodicals now currently bound 55, a gain of 5 for the year.

A notice in the Reading Room directs anyone now desiring to see the Illustrated London News to the Sutton Library.

During the past year 1,516 volumes have been circulated through our West Peabody delivery station.

The duties of the assistants have been satisfactorily performed and our janitor, Mr. McKeen, has at all times heartily co-operated in the work of the library.

Statistics in the usual form are appended, with a list of donors of bound volumes, and of periodicals on file in the Reading Room.

LYMAN P. OSBORN, Librarian.
